Esteemed Resident Galled By Death

Leila May Beagle, wife of J P. Bengle, passed away at her Arrowwood home, April 2, 1936. She was born at Monticello, In diana, Sept 8, 1892.

In 1909 she moved to Alberta m 1909 she moved to Alberta with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Culp, and her brothers, Russel and Cecil, from which time she has resided at Irricans and Arrowwood. On May 19, 1920, she was united in marriage with J. P. Boagle. To this union were born three children, two of which are still living, Ethelyn and Adelma.

Early in life she united with the Church of the Brethren to the church of the Brethren to which she was faithful and consistant, a willing worker in different departments of Church work.

Entrangement of the actions of the man or woman while at the Matention to this phase of the problem of safer delving is drawn by Mertill Denison in the first of a series of articles appearing in the March Issue of the Canadian Home Journal. He shows that out of 10,918 cars involved in auto accidents in Outario the first nine months of 1835, no less than 10,268 were classified as in "apparent good condition", that is, steering mechanisms were all right, brakes were in good condition and lights and tires were not defective.

The writer further report that out of 10,560 of these accidents studied an "normal." only 124 were suffering from extreme fatigue, which probably meant they were asleep, only 110 were intoxicated and only 30 had physical defects.

ably meant they were asiety, only 110 were intoxicated and only 35 had physical defects.

All of which means that nine out of every ten accidents could not be attributed to defective equipment or abnormaticy in the drivers.

"What interpretation can be placed on these figures? Do they not point to the fact that bad driving is at the bottom of the trouble?" pertinently be an important influence in instilling safety into drivers. When he was the Prince of Wales he signed documents "Edward P."

Now it's "Edward R. I." Before Secoming sovereign he always wrote the "P" after his name with a folloop.

Now he adds a straight downard stroke to form an "R" and affixes a perpendicular line for the

"f."

He still adheres to his fami final flourish from the ending of "d" of his name, the flourish in ning the length of the name.
